Thursday, October 2
5:30 p.m.
Linsly-Chittenden Hall 317
Reception to follow in LC 319

“The Glory of the Viking Ship in Reality and Myth”
ANDERS WINROTH
Forst Family Professor of History, Yale University

Thursday, October 16
5:30 p.m.
Linsly-Chittenden Hall 317
Reception to follow in LC 319

“Authority & Violence, Lordship & Office-Holding: New Perspectives on Some Old Problems”
JONATHAN LYON
Professor of Medieval History, University of Chicago

Thursday, November 13
5:30 p.m.
Whitney Humanities Center 208
Reception to follow

“Pardon, Hypocrisy and Temporality: Reading Late Medieval and Early Modern Pardoners in Time”
JAMES SIMPSON
Donald P. and Katherine B. Loker Professor of English, Harvard University

The Yale Lectures in Medieval Studies are generously supported by the Program in Medieval Studies, the Office of the Secretary and Vice President for Student Life, the Trumbull Lectureship, the Institute of Sacred Music, the Yale Divinity School, the Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library, the Department of History, the Department of English, the Department of French, the Department of Spanish and Portuguese, the European Studies Council, the Whitney Humanities Center, the Judaic Studies Program, YISAP, the Latin American and Iberian Studies Council, the Council on Middle East Studies, and the Program in Renaissance Studies.

http://medieval.yale.edu/events/yale-lectures-medieval-studies