Sunday, October 8

Optional Guided Tour of Self-Interned, 1942: Noguchi in Poston War Relocation Center with head curator and symposium panelist Dakin Hart (The Noguchi Museum, Long Island City, New York).

Admission is free for symposium participants, courtesy of the Noguchi Museum. RSVP required. Tour limited to 30 people. Shuttle will depart from the New Haven Omni Hotel on Sunday morning.

From the Museum:

The Noguchi Museum presents Self-Interned, 1942: Noguchi in Poston War Relocation Center, an exhibition marking the 75th anniversary of Executive Order 9066, the notorious wartime directive that authorized the internment of Japanese citizens and American citizens of Japanese heritage living on the West Coast. The exhibition examines Isamu Noguchi’s extraordinary decision to voluntarily enter the Poston War Relocation Center, in the Arizona Desert, despite being exempt from internment as a resident of New York. In Noguchi’s words, “Thus I willfully became part of humanity uprooted.”

Self-Interned, 1942 brings together about two-dozen works from the Museum’s collection, dating from before, during, and after Noguchi’s time at Poston, along with a substantial selection of archival documents. Together these evoke this harrowing moment in the history of American democracy, while revealing the impact that his experience at Poston had on Noguchi’s art.
